WiN France – LE NUCLÉAIRE AU FÉMININ – A non-profit association governed by Loi 1901, duly represented by Mrs. Isabelle Poli, whose registered office is located in WiN France, 18 avenue Maréchal de Saxe, 69006 Lyon.

WiN Global – Women in Nuclear – A non-profit association registered in Austria, duly represented by Mrs. Dominique Mouillot, whose registered office is located 2380 Perchtoldsdorf, Niederösterreich.

Hereinafter designated jointly as "the Organisers",

EDF, WiN France and WiN Global have agreed to organise jointly every year an Award event named Fem'Energia whose goals are to:

- Promote women's participation in the nuclear energy sector, give more visibility to women in scientific, technical and technological nuclear energy-related occupations, and highlight exemplary careers in the nuclear energy sector.

- Attract young women and detect student profiles oriented towards scientific, technical and technological professions in the nuclear energy sector.
- Recognize exemplary career paths in the nuclear energy sector deserving to be encouraged and published.

The Awards' targets :

- Female students in vocational high-school filed in a "Baccalauréat Professionnel" curriculum, students attending higher education establishments (TID, TUI, HNC), Bachelor's Degree, Professional Bachelors, Masters 2, Engineering Schools or PhDs, preparing for scientific, technical, or technological professions with potential nuclear energy applications.
- Women working in professional positions for at least 3 years and/or involved in public communication or in academia and/or involved in women-advocacy activities in the nuclear energy sector.

Fem'Energia Awards are granted in 2 categories:

1. "Students" category
2. "Working Women" category

Three First Prizes are awarded in the "Students" category:

- Award for "CAP, BEP, Baccalauréats Professionnels",
- Award for TID, TUI, HNC, Bachelor's Degrees (higher education graduate level),
- Award for University Masters 2, Engineering Degrees (minimum Masters 2 and more) and PhDs.

Three First Prizes are awarded in the "Working Women" category :

- "Junior Prize" for women working in France, the European Union, the UK or in Switzerland (under 7 years of working experience with at least 3 years in nuclear energy sector)
- "Senior Prize" for women working in France, the European Union, the UK or in Switzerland (At least 7 years of professional experience including minimum of 3 years in nuclear energy sector)
- Collective application (minimum number in the collective of 6 persons - it is allowed that only one person in the collective does not justify at least 3 years of working experience in nuclear energy sector).

In each of the above Awards categories and subcategories, a second and third Prize will also be awarded by the Jury to other Nominees (if there are three Nominees), in accordance with what is specified in Articles 6 and 7 below.

The Jury reserves its right not to award any Prize at all in a dedicated category, should the applications underscore the expectations.

Each year a "Fem'Energia Honorary Prize" or "Jury Prize" may also be awarded in one or several categories by the Jury, on Review Committee proposal. The Winner will be awarded a trophy.

A call for candidacies is published on the www.edf.fr/ website, on the www.win-france.org WiN France website and on WiN Global www.win-global.org website.

Informational posters and flyers (in French and in English) are also broadcasted in women scientific networks, in the relevant vocational high-schools, universities and engineering schools, as well as within EDF, the WiN France network, WiN Europe and other professional organisations related to the nuclear energy sector.

"Students" category :

The Awards are open to all female students in high-school and higher education currently enrolled in the final graduation year for the school/university year 2022-2023 in an educational establishment accredited by the French Ministry of Education and preparing the following degrees matching the respective award categories:

- “CAP, BEP, Baccalauréats Professionnels” ;
- TID, TUI, HNC, Bachelors Degree, Professional Bachelors Degree ;
- University Masters 2, Engineering Degrees (minimum Masters 2 and more), PhDs.

The target schools and institutions must prepare to scientific, technical or technological disciplines with potential application in the nuclear energy sector.

It is specified that the candidates must apply for the category of prepared diploma during the year of the Awards and that they must be in the graduation year.

The candidates graduating from an educational establishment from Switzerland, the UK or the EU and performing traineeship / apprenticeship in France (6 months at a minimum) are eligible to the Fem'Energia Prizes.

"Working women" category :

Prizes in this category are open to women working in France, the European Union, the UK or in Switzerland at January 1st, 2023.

The Awards are open to any woman holding a professional position in the nuclear energy sector and/or involved in public communication and/or in education or in mentoring activities related to the sector with a minimum of 3 years of professional experience in nuclear energy sector or in a related field.

Common Terms and Conditions to all categories:

Winners and Nominees awarded a Second or Third Prize may no longer present their candidacy to future Awards (Fem'Energia). However, candidates who were not nominated may re-submit their candidacy to future Awards.

Candidates will be asked how they heard about the Awards (media, website, WiN France, WiN Global, EDF or other source).

Nominees authorize the organisation committee to contact them in order to participate to a filmed interview, which will be used to constitute a portrait that will be broadcasted on the EDF and WiN France websites and social networks.

By filing and applying, candidates acknowledge having read, understood and accepted these Rules and its Terms and Conditions.

Candidacies shall be electronically submitted at : <https://fem-energia.wiin.io/fr>

The website address is also available on WiN France website www.win-france.org, on EDF website www.edf.fr/FEMEnergia and WiN Global website www.win-global.org.

The Organisers reserve the right to cancel or postpone the Awards at any time and without any compensation. These Fem'Energia Awards Rules may be revised each year by mutual decision of the Organisers.

One Review Committee is created for each Prize category.

Each Review Committee is set up of members appointed by the Organisers' mutual consent.

After checking the validity of candidacy files, each Committee screens the applications based on the following criteria:

- relevance and quality of application as related to its category;
- motivation expressed by the candidate;

- written presentation of the detailed and true description of the candidate's career and track-record, along with the description of her engagements and/or actions in favour of the nuclear energy sector, if any.

Each Review Committee will establish a short-list of pre-selected Nominees in order to submit them to the Jury Members.

The Jury is comprised of:

- Human Resources Director of EDF Nuclear and Thermal Fleet Direction;
- Human Resources and Management Director of EDF Nuclear Production Division;
- A representative of EDF Group;
- President of WiN France;
- Two members of WiN France Administration Council including the person in charge of the Fem'Energia project,

The Jury meets in order to review the applications of the nominated candidates in each Prize category.

The Jury is free to deliberate and select the Award Winner in each Prize category, as well as the Second and Third Prizes (if 3 Nominees) and has no obligation to justify its final decisions.

One Winner will be designated for each Award category, except candidates unanimously considered as ex-aequo by the Jury.

Similarly, if the other two nominated candidates are considered ex-aequo by the Jury, they may be attributed an ex-aequo Second Prize.

The Jury will inform the Prize Winners and Nominees by e-mail. The names of the Winners will be revealed during the Awards Ceremony.

8.1 Awards Ceremony:

Awards Winners and Nominees will receive their Prizes at the time of Awards Ceremony on November 15th, 2023.

Under the terms of their candidacy, Award Winners and Nominees expressly agree to attend the Awards Ceremony and any other related communication event, as appropriate.

By accepting their Prizes, the Winners and the Nominees further commit to include in any communication or declaration a statement that they are Fem'Energia Award Winners or Nominees in their category, and to contribute to any promotional action they may be requested to support.

Award Winners hereby authorise the Organisers to publish any multimedia picture or organise any information and communication actions that may be conducted in the context of the Awards publicity, and hereby release any claim to any related rights or compensation.

Any travel and accommodation expenses to attend the Awards Ceremony could be covered by the Organisers, on provided written proof, based on the Organisers' expense schedule.

Expense schedule for 2023:

- €139,11 for hotel room
- €7,73 for breakfast
- €47,25 for lunch

Concerning transportation fees (train or car), refund will be based on real expenses and written proofs (in economic class fares). Refund for mileage allowance with a personal vehicle will be based on fiscal power of a 4CV car.

Each individual category Nominee will be allowed to bring two guests at most at the Awards Ceremony. Each group nominated in the collective application will be allowed to bring two guests at most for the entire group.

Guests' expenses are not paid back by the Organisers.

8.2 Nature of awarded Prizes:

Nominees in each Award category, apart from collective application, will be granted a one-year free membership to WiN France association. Nominees will be expected to occasionally participate to WiN France actions of promotion towards social mix in return.
